Food * Education * Agriculture * Solutions * Together
Community F*E*A*S*T
Frequently Asked Questions

What does F*E*A*S*T* stand for?
Food * Education * Agriculture * Solutions * Together

What is a Community FEAST?
A FEAST is an opportunity for participants to engage in an informed and facilitated discussion about Food, Education and Agriculture in their community and begin to work towards Solutions Together that will help build a healthier, more equitable and resilient local food system. This is an anchor event in a larger community organizing process that engages communities in making positive change in their local food system.

How many people attend these events?
Attendance can vary from a dozen to over 50 people. Groups of 35 or fewer are ideal as long as there is broad representation from your community food system.

How do we get started?
A local steering committee of 5-10 people meets with a Community FEAST facilitator to work through the Planning Worksheet and other resources included in this manual.

How long is the event?
The actual event can take from 4-6 hours depending on how much work your community has already done in setting priorities for your food system.

What happens during a FEAST?
The essential sections include:
- The Local Picture: community members tell the story of your local food system.
- An introduction to Community Food Systems Organizing and language
- Visioning and brainstorming to set your food system priorities together
- A meal...it wouldn’t be a FEAST without a meal that celebrates local food!
- Creating a food system action plan to address the priorities identified
- Small group work: organized by interest area, participants are provided with resources and tools to inform their action plans.
What is the cost?
There is no cost for the services of the facilitator or the participant packets. The community steering committee is responsible for publicity and registration, a local meal and finding a space for the event. Some communities charge for the lunch and others have found sponsors or sought volunteers to create a “stone soup” meal.

How has Community FEAST benefitted other communities?
FEAST outcomes have been many and varied. Results of the FEAST process have included new farm-to-school partnerships, new and expanded farmers markets, partnerships between food producers and emergency food providers and the formation of food systems coalitions to carry forward community based food system projects. See the list of quotes and testimonials from past FEAST participants later in this packet.

How do we know our community is ready for a FEAST?
- Is there a buzz about local food?
- Is there a desire to improve the quality of food available to low income residents, seniors and youth?
- Are local farmers searching for new marketing opportunities locally and regionally?
- Are individual, community and school gardens popping up everywhere?
- Are people seeking to participate in or organize nutrition education or food preservation classes?
- Is there a feeling that the voices of local farmers and food producers are not being heard?
- Are you concerned that local food system players are not talking to each other?
- Is there a group of community members that are passionate about food systems work and willing to motivate a broader group to take action on a collective vision?

If you answered yes to a number of these questions, then your community is probably ready for a FEAST!

For more information contact Oregon Food Bank’s Community Food Systems team:
Sharon Thornberry            Megan Newell-Ching
Community Food Systems Manager Community Resources Developer
Oregon Food Bank              Oregon Food Bank
sthornberry@oregonfoodbank.org mnewellching@oregonfoodbank.org
(503) 703-2198                (503) 702-7579
(800) 777-7427 x2228          (800) 777-7427 x2270

http://oregonfoodbank.org/feast
Getting Started: Planning your FEAST

Step-by-Step:
1. Assemble your steering committee
2. Read this planning manual
3. Contact OFB Community Food Systems Team
4. Choose a date and event space
   - The event space should accommodate everyone at tables and be large enough to break out into small workgroups comfortably.
5. Plan a local foods meal
   - a. Find a local caterer or restaurant willing to donate or offer a meal at a reduced price
   - OR
   - b. Organize volunteers to make a “Stone Soup” or other meal
6. Identify and invite local panelists
7. Recruit volunteers to help with registration, cooking, tabling, photography, childcare and more (see “best practices” section)
8. Promote your event and register participants
9. Follow-up with participants to take action on your Food Systems Action Plan

Key Things to Remember when planning a Community FEAST:

- Community Food Organizing (CFO) always highlights a community’s resources and assets as well as its needs.
- The act of doing an assessment is an organizing tool.
- CFO must include the grassroots of a community.
- CFO is done with communities, not to them.
- It’s about the conversation!
- This is both short-term and long-term work. Results may not be instant.
- Feature LOCAL Food & Farms
- FEASTs should be planned with a local steering committee and reflect local realities.
- Plan for evaluation and follow-up.
- Make it a celebration!!!
Language of Community Foods Organizing

What is a Food System?
It’s the sum of all activities required to make food available to people.

What is Community Foods Organizing?
Community Foods Organizing is the process of bringing together a variety of stakeholders to reshape a local food system that is more responsive to the needs and assets of a community. The goal of that organizing will promote a healthier community; respect, promote and celebrate the culture of that community as well as seek to improve its economic well-being.

- Sharon Thornberry

What is Community Food Security?
Community Food Security is a condition in which all community residents obtain a safe, culturally acceptable, nutritionally adequate diet through a sustainable food system that maximizes community self-reliance and social justice.

- Mike Hamm and Anne Bellows

What is a Community Food Assessment?
A Community Food Assessment is a collaborative and participatory process that systematically examines a broad range of community food issues and assets, so as to inform change actions to make the community more food secure
Community FEAST Planning Worksheet

Date: __________________________
Location: __________________________

Event Space Contact: __________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: ________________________________________________________

Local Steering Committee
List Names & Contact Info:

Local Panel
The panel should consist of four to six people representing any of the following sectors (or other sectors important to your local food system): Agriculture, Anti-Hunger or Low-Income, Youth, Gardens, Food Retail, Restaurant, Fisheries, Public Health, Nutrition.

Panelists:
1. Name: __________________________ Sector: __________________________
   Organization: ________________________________________________________
   Phone: __________________________ E-mail: __________________________

2. Name: __________________________ Sector: __________________________
   Organization: ________________________________________________________
   Phone: __________________________ E-mail: __________________________

3. Name: __________________________ Sector: __________________________
   Organization: ________________________________________________________
   Phone: __________________________ E-mail: __________________________

4. Name: __________________________ Sector: __________________________
   Organization: ________________________________________________________
   Phone: __________________________ E-mail: __________________________

5. Name: __________________________ Sector: __________________________
   Organization: ________________________________________________________
   Phone: __________________________ E-mail: __________________________
Local Food Meal & Refreshments

Meal Coordinator: ____________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: _______________________________________________________

Meal Notes (food donors, restaurants, caterer, volunteers etc.):

Event Promotion & Registration:

PR Coordinator: _____________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: _______________________________________________________

Registration Options (check all that apply):
□ Eventbrite    □ Evite   □ Traditional RSVP (Phone/E-mail)

Other Considerations

Photographer
Contact: ___________________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: _______________________________________________________

Childcare
Contact: ___________________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: _______________________________________________________

Display Tables
Coordinator: _______________________________________________________

Organizations & Tabling Contacts:

Follow-up Coordination
Contact: ___________________________________________________________
Phone/E-mail: _______________________________________________________

Community FEAST Feedback

How has the FEAST process benefitted other communities?

Here is some feedback in the words of former participants.

“|I felt that the ‘FEAST’ was the event that energized and activated people in Clatsop County to take action on the important issues surrounding a food system. Since the FEAST I have seen great leaders, and great ideas emerge to direct the food system coalition. The FEAST revitalized not just conversation, but enacted a vision filled with goals and proactive action.” |

Marlin Martin, Food Program Developer
CCA Regional Food Bank

“I think that the FEAST workshop inspired many of us to collaborate with one another on issues we are passionate about. We developed a larger community base with resources to actually get things done. We are getting things done since that workshop. I feel the workshop was managed very well and am looking forward to the follow up sessions.”

Jan, Jan and Larry Neilson
Fraga Farm Goat Cheese

“There is no more important work than this – feeding the soil and feeding ourselves from it. I am so grateful for the Community FEAST workshops. I was inspired to find more ways to participate in schools, community, and neighborhood. The network being built via this effort is a source of strength and comfort.”

Dawn Jensen Nobile
Nutrition Therapist, Albany

“I was impressed with the number of farmers in the Sweet Home area. More importantly, we had a chance to talk to the Sweet Home school superintendent about utilizing the high school cafeteria ‘prepared but not served food.’ Our added day, Tuesday, is now mostly food we have received from the school. We send home take-outs of any foods that are not served at the ‘manna’ meal.”

Bob Hartsock
Manna Meal, Sweet Home United Methodist Church

“I thought the workshop was well organized and a chance to hear about what is going on in the community. I think ground work that has been started by this meeting is important for what in store for us in the future. I think that the need will continue to grow after this year for more support for families from organizations and grower groups that can work together to support each other and the community. I am looking forward to the next meeting.”

Jim Calkin
Heavenly Harvest Farms, Corvallis
“The FEAST was an important step in our organizing work in Wheeler County. It helped to build and mobilize local leadership. Here are a few quotes from the evaluations in Wheeler and Gilliam:

‘This was a great networking event. The workshop also gave me confidence to try to change our culture of food at Hancock [Field Station].’

‘[The FEAST was] very worthwhile. It provided information and gave one much to think about and things to consider and explore further.’

‘Thank you for your time and caring!’

Katie Weaver, RARE
CAPECO, Pendleton

“This is an inspirational gathering. It has generated many ideas for me to consider in my work, and that seem to support a recently co-authored bill on "economic gardening," which has to do with nurturing and cultivating more business and entrepreneurial activities at the local community level."

Bob Jenson, (R), Dist. 58, Pendleton

"I'm really impressed to see and hear so much interest now blossoming in our area. Even though I've been trying to make a go of alternative and diversified farming practices for years now, I've felt somewhat alone and uncertain in that effort. Now I see that there may be opportunities I hadn't thought of, because of all the input and excitement around local healthy food, from community members."

Eric Nelson

“I feel that the FEAST’s are a great resource for getting a broad picture of a local food system. Having the FEAST at the beginning of my term gave me an early direction for what needs to be accomplished in Clatsop County. There were a few primary concerns that arose at the FEAST (food coalition, distribution, processor), and many secondary concerns (land use, grange redevelopment), in which gave me a broad understanding of the current food system in Clatsop County. Finding out many of the primary and secondary concerns in Clatsop County has also given me focus for my first six months.

“Overall, the two FEASTs I have been a part of, including playing a heavy role in one, have been extremely successful in opening the conversation among rural voices. I often refer back to Clatsop County’s FEAST when discussing our local food system, and I feel a FEAST should be used as a springboard for future discussions involving food systems, however it is only one piece of a larger assessment, and should not be solely relied upon for information and ideas of the local food system."

John Dean, RARE
CCA Regional Food Bank
Best Practices

Every FEAST is different, as is every community food system. This section of the manual is meant to provide guidance in planning and executing your FEAST event. It is a compilation of information from OFB staff and former FEAST planners and participants about different parts of the event and what has worked well in other communities.

Building a Steering Committee

A FEAST steering committee should consist of 8 to 12 people who are a combination of key gatekeepers in your local food system, community leaders and networkers. It is important that the committee is comprised of folks who can, and are willing, to share in the work of making the community organizing process happen, before during and after the FEAST event.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Who are these folks and where might you find them?</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Local food groups</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>WIC or SNAP (DHS) staff</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Food Pantry staff/volunteers</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Slow Food chapters</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ford Leadership Institute graduates</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

Recruiting a Local Panel

The purpose of the “Local Panel” is to create a picture of your community’s local food system for the participants in your FEAST. It also serves as a starting point for the visioning and organizing activities that will follow in the event. The panel should highlight the key food systems sectors that are important in your area (Agriculture, Anti-Hunger or Low-Income, Youth, Gardens, Food Retail, Restaurant, Fisheries, Public Health, Nutrition, or others specific to your community). Panelists should be able to give a broad picture of the sector you have chosen them to represent for your community. For example, if you have chosen a farmer who is skilled in direct marketing, he or she should be able to tell the story of their farm as well as other farmers in the area, touching on challenges, successes and how the community can better support them. The panel needs to move at a brisk pace to hold the interest of the participants. The whole panel should take no longer than 60 - 75 minutes, with each presenter averaging about 10 minutes.

Tips from past FEAST planners:

- 5 panelists seems to be a good number - enough to represent a broad spectrum of the community food system - but not so much as to overwhelm
- Appoint a timekeeper (the facilitator can do this if no one else is willing/able).
- Panelists can use PowerPoint, but it should fit within the time frame. (Rule of thumb: each slide = 4 minutes of presentation)
Consider Accessibility

FEAST should be a process that considers, and includes, the broadest possible spectrum of your community. Before your steering committee gets too far down the road in planning your event, you will want to take time to brainstorm all the different groups and people in your community that should be at the table for the FEAST event and the community organizing that follows. Think about what barriers to participation might exist for different groups and individuals. Are there steps you can take to make your event accessible to as many community members as possible? Here are some factors to jumpstart your brainstorm:

Childcare

- Having the right space for this could be a consideration when choosing an event space. Churches, schools or community centers frequently have perfect spaces (nurseries or classrooms, with toys, books and craft supplies) built in.
- Find volunteers among students at a local community college, university or church youth group.
- If you do decide to offer childcare, you will want to consider getting snacks donated in addition the food for the main meal.
- Ask participants to indicate whether they will want to use the childcare option when they RSVP, that way you will have a sense of how many children to expect.

Translation/Interpretation

Multilingual meetings are no longer unusual, so if your community includes potential participants who speak a language other than English, a good interpreter will help make the event more accessible to these groups, and more inclusive.

- Contact local groups that work with these populations to see if they have suggestions of potential interpreters, as well as ways to plan for a bilingual event. Interpretation takes time, but it is often worth it!
- Find out what experience the interpreter has with food systems and community organizing. You want to make sure that they are aware of, and understand, any specialized vocabulary or topics that might be covered.

Location/Transportation

- If there is a public transportation system in your town or region, think about holding the FEAST in a location that is easily accessible by it.
- If your FEAST will be in a more rural area, think about incorporating ridesharing or carpool options in your registration process (see later section on registration tools- this would be possible with either Eventbrite or Evite).
Registration Tools

You’ll want to keep track of who is coming to your FEAST event. Here are a few online tools that some planning committees have found useful. You can also choose to have a traditional RSVP method (calling or e-mailing a specific contact person) in addition to these online options.

Eventbrite (www.eventbrite.com): is a great online resource that you can use to manage registration for your FEAST event. It is geared toward handling ticketed events, although it has settings for free events like FEAST. It has more features for organizers then E-vite or a traditional RSVP method (i.e. calling or e-mailing a specific contact) such as: automatically generating a registration list, allowing you to print nametags directly from the registration list, collecting basic information about attendees and providing many options for promoting your event.

Here is a step-by-step guide to setting up your FEAST on Eventbrite. If you need additional information, you can also consult their help section (http://www.eventbrite.com/help) or attend one of their daily free demo webinars (http://www.eventbrite.com/t/sign-up-for-a-free-live-online-demo).

1. Click on “Create Event”. Set up a login & password or login with your existing info if you’ve used the site before to create events or purchase event tickets.
2. Walk through all the steps in the event set-up. See notes about specific steps below:
   - Step 2: You must “create a ticket,” even though you will not be selling tickets for your FEAST. To do this:
     - Click the “create a ticket” box
     - Give your “ticket type” a name (community member, attendee, participant, etc.)
     - Select “Free” under price.
     - You will have to put a number in “quantity available”. It’s probably best to make that number higher than your best estimate of how many people will attend the event (unless you are reasonably limited by your venue or other restrictions and do actually have a maximum number of attendees, in which case, enter that number).
   - Step 8, Set Privacy: You probably want to select the second option “this event is private and should not be listed in the directory or on search engines.” In order to maximize attendance though, you probably do want to check the box that allows attendees to share on social media sites or through e-mail. You will have more options to share the invitation once you complete all the steps under “Create Event”
   - Under additional options, you can select to “show attendee list on the registration page”, if you feel that it would be helpful for people that might consider coming to the event to see who else is already registered.
2. Once you have completed all the steps, click on save and publish (don’t worry, you still have a chance to edit your event). You can now “manage”, “edit” or “view” your completed invitation through tabs that will now appear under the main header on the right hand side of the page.

3. Some options you will want to consider under the “manage” tab include:
   - Collecting additional information from participants at registration (such as e-mail address, mailing address, phone number, organization, etc.)
   - Inviting attendees by sending e-mail invitations or using any or all of the suggested ways to promote your event (on your website, through Facebook, etc.)
   - Under the “Orders” menu, you will want to “edit the order confirmations” because the default confirmation e-mail that is automatically sent when someone registers will instruct registrants to print out their “tickets”. Since FEAST is a free event, you probably don’t need printed tickets and it has the potential to confuse people. To do this:
     1. Click on the link.
     2. Uncheck both boxes (“attach PDF tickets”...and “include print tickets link”...)
     3. Edit the e-mail in the box to read something like this:
        “You don’t need a ticket to attend this event. Thanks for registering! We look forward to seeing you on (Date and time of event) at (location of event). Please bring a local ingredient to add to our “Stone Soup” if you are able”
   - Use the “day of event” features to either print a check in list or check people in in real time, and/or to print nametags

E-vite (http://www.evite.com): is another free online tool that you can use to register people for your FEAST event. It has less “event management” features than Eventbrite, but is a little more user friendly from both an organizer and participant standpoint. To set up a FEAST invitation, simply go to the E-vite homepage, click on “create an invitation” and follow the step-by-step instructions. Once you have created your invite, you can edit any part, invite new people, and even share your event on Facebook. Here is a helpful online tutorial if you’re having trouble: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=zz-YElfuNo&feature=related or you can also visit E-vite’s support page: http://new.evite.com/content/support
Planning a Local Foods Meal

The meal is a part of the FEAST where you have the opportunity to celebrate some of the great things about your local food system. Communities have approached this part of the event a number of different ways (see examples that follow). Regardless of your approach, you will probably want to have at least one member of your steering committee focused on planning this portion of the event. You may also want to consider recruiting outside volunteers to help seek food donations and prepare the meal, clean up afterwards, etc. In addition to the main meal, plan to have some snacks or refreshments available throughout the day (such as: coffee, tea, water, cut up fruit and veggies, crackers and cheese, breads or pastries, etc.) Consider ways to accommodate participants with food allergies and sensitivities or special diets in advance. It can be easier to have at least one option that is vegan and gluten-free, so that if someone comes that hasn’t let you know about special needs in advance, they will still be able to share in the meal.

Meal Planning Tips from past FEAST planners:

- Find ways to feature some local ingredients in your FEAST meal.
- Seek out donors who are interested in FEAST or promoting a local food system.
- If you plan to prepare the meal on site (Stone Soup), make sure to choose an event space that has an adequate kitchen.
- Many FEAST planners have said they wished they had sought kitchen volunteers who were interested in helping out, but not as eager to fully participate in the FEAST process. The work of preparing and cleaning up after lunch kept key folks from being in the room for important conversations at several FEASTs. University students turned out to be the perfect match for this at one FEAST.

Local Restaurant or Caterer: Is there a restaurant or caterer that highlights local products on their menu? Would they be willing to create an affordable menu for your event? Letting a professional handle the meal means that you won’t have to worry too much about the details. However, you most likely will have to pay for the meal out of your organization’s budget, or you will have to ask attendees to pay for lunch. Ask if they can prepare the meal at a reduced price, or use some donated ingredients to make it more affordable for your group or participants. Make sure to confirm who (they or you) will provide napkins, serving ware, cups, etc.

“Stone Soup” Meal: The idea here is that participants in the event will bring ingredients (hopefully local ones!) that can be added to a pot of soup that will simmer away during the first part of the event and then be served for lunch (or dinner). Make sure to highlight this part of the event in your promotions, so that participants know what to bring. You will want to seek donations from local farms or retailers for the basic building blocks of your soup (ham, chicken or soup bones, beans, stock, onions, etc.) and any extras you might want to serve alongside the soup (bread from a local bakery, salad from a local farm, apples for snacking or dessert, etc.). Appoint a “soup boss” or head volunteer who is comfortable doing some prep work and running the show in the kitchen during the event. This could be a chef, extension agent or knowledgeable home cook -- someone who is comfortable cooking soup from scratch for a large group, leading volunteers and has a food handlers’ card or other food safety training such as ServSafe.
Volunteer Chefs w/donated ingredients: Similar to “Stone Soup”, but perhaps you don’t want to serve soup, or you have other great menu ideas. At the Lincoln County FEAST in Newport, a group of volunteers made a spectacular stew featuring local seafood, delicious! Seek donations of ingredients from local farms or retailers for the basic building blocks of your meal...or seek donations of anything seasonal/available and then decide on a menu. If you choose to go this route, you can do much of the cooking and prep work in advance. This can be helpful if your venue doesn’t have a large enough kitchen to cook a meal for a big group, or to accommodate lots of volunteer chefs. It’s also a good option if your kitchen volunteers are interested in participating in the FEAST- they won’t have to be out of the room for the whole morning.

Kitchen Volunteers at the Forest Grove FEAST
(Photo by Guthrie Straw)

On the Day of the Event
You’ve been planning, promoting, cooking and scheming and your event is finally here. These are some tips from past planners for helping your event to go smoothly.

Tips from past FEAST planners:
• Have at least two people to staff the registration table, one to explain folders and nametags and one to make sure that registration forms are completed.
• Staff the table from 15 minutes before the stated start time, to 45 minutes to an hour into the event to make sure that you capture as many participants’ information as possible
• Have a few volunteers come at the beginning and end of the FEAST to help out with unexpected tasks, from making coffee to directing traffic, helping set up tables and chairs to cleaning up afterwards. You will be glad to have some extra helpers.

Appendixes
1. Sample FEAST Agenda
2. Sample Informational Flyer
3. Worksheets for FEAST (these will be provided for participants by Oregon Food Bank, and explained by the facilitator during the event)
4. Photo consent form
Lincoln County Community FEAST*
Oregon Coast Community College, Newport, OR
April 2, 2010

9:30 AM - Registration

10:00 AM- Introductions and Agenda Review
Welcome and intro
Participant introductions
Review intended event outcomes; by the end of this session, you will have:
- An understanding of the scope & history of CFS work in Lincoln County
- Gained a basic understanding of Community Foods Organizing and the language of community food systems.
- Identified initial goals for an organizing plan in the defined area
- Developed initial steps for organizing plans.
- Identified potential partners for the plan.
-Outlined next steps and who will do them.

10:30 AM- The Local Picture
- Rural Community Health - Joell Archibald, Lincoln County Health Department
- Retail/Restaurant Picture – Laura Anderson, Local Ocean Seafoods
- Low Income Food Needs – Joyce Thompson Graham, Food Share of Lincoln County
- Local Agriculture Picture – Randy Walker, Walker Farms of Siletz
- Local Fisheries – Jeff Feldner, Oregon Sea Grant
11:30 AM - Introduction to Community Food Systems & Organizing

- Brief Overview: The language of community food systems
- Oregon Efforts – What’s happening out there?
- Questions/wrap-up
- Resources & Assessment Methods

12:30 PM - What is Your Food Systems Vision? – Creating a Broad Vision
You will engage in an individual and group process to determine issues to work on for the rest of the day. You will be divided into working groups at the end of this segment.

What is your Food System vision? ____________________________________________ __________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

What would you want to see change in your county or area as a result of developing a community foods organizing plan and implementing the results? __________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________

1:00 PM – Local Foods Lunch

2:00 PM - Creating An Organizing Plan
Using the worksheets in your packet each group will work together to create a vision and an initial organizing plan.

3:00 PM - Report Back to Large Group

3:30 PM- Next steps & Wrap-up
- Schedule follow-up, set time lines and designate key leadership.
- Evaluation

What is your commitment to this effort?
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
________________________________________________________________________
Community FEAST*

A Community Foods Organizing Event
February 20, 2010
8:30 AM – 3:00 PM
Local Foods Meal <cost> - to pre-register call <number> or email <email address>
Lebanon Community Hospital

A Community FEAST is a way to:
• Build community
• Strengthen existing projects
• Launch new projects with community support and involvement.
• Identify community food needs, resources and opportunities
• Improve community health and nutrition
• Support our local food and agriculture economy

At the Community FEAST event you will:
• Learn about local food and farming
• Share knowledge and concerns
• Identify what we want, create a plan, and begin taking action for change

We will address issues such as:
• Hunger and nutrition
• Access to local food
• Local agriculture and food production
• Youth opportunities

Presenter:
Sharon Thornberry, Community Food Systems Manager, Oregon Food Bank

*FEAST: Food – Education – Agriculture – Solutions – Together
Creating an Organizing Plan

FEAST Location ___________________________  Date ________________
Workgroup Category ________________________________

❖ Step One: Agree on a broad vision based on your category & the input on the sticky notes you have. Do not try to quantify or be too specific.

❖ Step Two: Who are your partners?
  - Use the accompanying worksheet to help you brainstorm all of the potential partners.
  - Place an asterisk by anyone that is already involved in these activities.

❖ Step Three: What information do you need?
  - Are there existing data sources that will be useful?
  - What needs further investigation?

❖ Step Four: Next Steps-
  - Who will take leadership for this group? (Please list the name & contact information.)
  - When will the group reconvene?
  - Who will take responsibility for recruiting additional partners?
Worksheet: Possible Partners for Your Assessment

This worksheet is intended to help you brainstorm possible partners for your Community Food Assessment. It is organized into general categories to help spark a broad range of ideas, and so that you can list specific groups under each category if you wish. Each assessment is unique, so you may not have partners in all these categories, or you may identify additional categories not included here.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Category</th>
<th></th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>Non-profit and public interest organizations:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Community-based organizations:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Neighborhood associations:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Faith-based organizations:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Ethnic and cultural associations:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Category</td>
<td>Details</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>--------------------------------</td>
<td>---------</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Schools, youth groups and parent groups:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Colleges and universities:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Government agencies:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Elected officials and their staff:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Businesses:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Other:</td>
<td></td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>
Oregon Food Bank
Photo Consent Form

Release form in reference to photoshoot or video taping of ____________________________ event on ____________________________ date.

I agree to allow Oregon Food Bank unrestricted use of images taken of me and/or my child in the course of participation in activities or events sponsored by Oregon Food Bank or by a local participating agency of the Oregon Food Bank Network.

I understand that Oregon Food Bank intends to use such photographs in connection with official Oregon Food Bank print materials, websites, social media sites or video. I also understand that Oregon Food Bank may share these images with partner organizations for publication.

________________________________________          ____________________________
print name                                         child’s name if applicable

________________________________________          ____________________________
signature                                          date

________________________________________          ____________________________
witness

Description of photo subject(s):

Address and phone number: