What

Each gathering will be a little different but will each include the opportunity to:

- Learn about recent state legislation, including state budget and revenue issues, that affect local level food systems and access development efforts.
- Learn about work being done on the local level to strengthen local food systems and access to healthy food.
- Dialogue about civic engagement, resources, ideas, and ways to work together to reach the common vision of a healthy, local food system.

Who

Farmers, ranchers, public health professionals, community leaders & policy makers, legislators, local food, farm, and food access advocates, and anyone interested in learning more about state and local food and farm action.
